

Prices Received By State Farmers Is Up In August

The mid-August All Commodity index of prices received by farmers is 253 percent of the 1910-14 base period, according to the Alabama Crop and Live Stock Reporting Service. This is 2.4 percent (6 points) above last month and 0.4 percent (1 point) above mid-August last year.

Cotton

Price for new crop cotton was above the nominal price used in computing the July index and accounts for the increase in the level of the cotton price index from a month ago. At 277 percent of the base period the current index is 12 points above last month but unchanged from a year ago.

Grains and Hay

Lower prices for corn and hay dropped the level of the index for this commodity group to 139 percent of the base period. This compares with 141 percent last month and 143 percent a year ago.

Fruits, Vegetables

Irish potato prices, under heavy pressure from large supplies, dropped sharply forcing the fruits, nuts and vegetables index well below both 1 a s t month and last year.

Meat Animals

Improved prices for beef cattle, calves and hogs advanced the index for the meat animals group to 343 percent of the base period. This was 3 percent (9 points) above last month and 8 percent (24 points) above the same month last year.

Poultry and Eggs

This index group at 150 percent of the 1910-14 level was up 3 percent (4 points) from last month but was 11 percent (18 points) below year-ago levels. Slightly higher prices for commercial broilers and for eggs were responsible for the increase in the index.

Dairy Products

The dairy products index at 245 percent of the base period was unchanged from 1 a s t month and only slightly above the year-ago level. An increase in price of wholesale milk was offset by a drop in the price of milk retailed by farmers.

Beer and Ale Use In Alabama Is Up

In consuming 544,130 barrels of beer and ale during 1960, Alabama enriched their state and federal tax treasuries by more than eight and a half million dollars, according to data in the newly issued Brewers Almanac.

Federal excise taxes on the quantity of beer and ale consumed in Alabama last year amounted to $4,897,620. State of Alabama collections came to $3,709,000, with one half of this amount, or $1,854,500 earmarked for old age pensions. In addition, municipalities and county governments in the state's 20 "legally wet" counties collected an additional $3,300,000 in local taxes for public services such as schools, hospitals, streets, roads, etc.

Consumption of beer and ale increased in Alabama during the year, 35,643 more barrels than in 1959.

Turkey Output

Turkeys raised during 1961 at 330,000 head are 10 percent more than the 300,000 in 1960, according to a preliminary estimate by the Alabama Crop and Livestock Reporting Service. Heavy breed turkeys were most popular and totaled 311,000 compared with 278,000 last year. Light breeds at 19,000 birds were 2,000 less than the number raised last year. All of the increase is in heavy white breeds, which for the first time are expected to exceed number of bronze and other heavy breeds raised in the State.

Harvest Practices Can Help Profits

AUBURN — September is the key marketing month for cotton growers who made plans in advance and followed them carefully.

A. W. Jones, Auburn Extension Service marketing specialist, says several factors are important if you want to make a clear profit. Picking cotton clean, picking it before damage sets in, picking it often and picking it dry has a lot to do with the profit the cotton grower makes from his year's work, he points out.

But remember, says Jones, what you get from each bale of cotton is not as important as what you have left after paying production costs.

Harvesting Is Still Behind Schedule Due To Rainfall

Harvesting of crops continued behind schedule during the past week as unusually wet weather during August continued into September.

August, this year, had more than twice the rainfall of August, last year, according to J. Drayden Smith, marked by two heavy downpours.

The month came to an end Thursday, last week, with an early in the night downpour that totaled three and a quarter inches in three hours. Two weeks earlier, on Sunday afternoon of August 13, there was a rainfall of two and a half inches in a few hours.

The entire month of August, last year, had only six inches of rain.

Opening of Elba and county schools was delayed a week on account of late harvesting but little could be done due to the continued wet weather. This week began clear and warm only to be dampened by scattered showers Tuesday through out the week.

Good yields of both cotton and peanuts are in the fields but will be in serious trouble if rainfall continues. The corn crop is one of the best on record. Cotton ginnings so far this year have been less than a fourth of normal.

Silage Needed For High Milk Output

Good silage can do more to keep milk production high during next month than any crop that can be grown at that time, says Sam Jones, Auburn Extension Service dairyman. Summer pastures will be gone. Permanent pastures will have reached the mature stage and will be worth very little in stimulating milk production, he notes.

"It is important to hold milk production as high as possible during this time since it is the start of the base period," Jones says. "And silage can do the job."

Action Delayed On New Channel For Listners of WSFA

WSFA-TV, Montgomery, has been granted a two month delay for filing comments with the Federal Communications Commission, expressing opposition to a ruling which would remove Montgomery's only VHF television station, and replace it with a UHF channel.

Carter Hardwick, managing director of WSFA-TV, said he received word today that the FCC had delayed the deadline for filing comments from Oct. 2 until Dec. 4, 1961.

The FCC made a proposed ruling July 27, which would remove VHF television station in Montgomery and seven other cities. The Commission proposed that these long-range VHF stations be replaced with short-range UHF. WSFA-TV's programs now go into 31 counties in Central and South Alabama. A UHF transmission would cut their coverage back to Montgomery County and parts of six other counties.

The 32-year old officer attended the University of Alabama.

Small Grains Fine For Hog Grazing

AUBURN — Be sure to provide fall and winter grazing for your hogs, says O. N. Andrews, Auburn University Extension Service agronomist.

He recommends planting small grains. Young tender, fast-growing oats or wheat are hard to beat, he says.

White clover is another good grazing crop for hogs, points out Andrews. If you plant on moist productive soils, he says, white clover will provide a great deal of late winter and spring grazing.

Here are some suggestions to keep in mind, says Andrews. Lime and fertilize the land according to soil test. Prepare a firm, smooth seedbed. A n d plant tree to five pounds of California ladinoe Louisiana 8-1 white clover per acre in late September or early October.

WE ACCEPT THE LEDGER'S CHALLENGE . .

The Enterprise Ledger publishes on its first page each week the boast that it carries the most news of any newspaper in Coffee county. There is only one other newspaper in Coffee county so this boast is the same as saying that The Ledger carries more news than The Clipper.

Let's look at the record.

First, it would be unfair to compare news published by The Elba Clipper, which publishes once a week, with the news carried by both editions of The Ledger, which publishes twice a week, and which, therefore, has a higher circulation price. Neither would The Ledger compare the total news in its two editions with all the news in The Troy Messenger or The Dothan Eagle, which publish daily.

Let's compare the total number of news stories (not including community letters) in The Clipper with the total number of news stories in The Ledger's largest edition, which is Thursday.

A comparison the last four successive weeks reveals the following:

	Clipper	Ledger
August 10 Edition	53	41
August 17 Edition	43	33
August 24 Edition	39	62
August 31 Edition	46	31
TOTAL	181	167

There are other factors than the number of news stories which enter into the amount of news published by a newspaper. The editor of The Clipper recently wrote a full page article in a magazine of the publishing trade devoted to the theme of the newspaper man "who can condense eight columns of news into one column and include every important fact." The editor of The Ledger, in the same magazine, wrote an article in which he said, "The newspaper man who can condense eight columns of news into one column and include every important fact is a rare bird. The newspaper man who can condense eight columns of news into one column and include every important fact is a rare bird. The newspaper man who can condense eight columns of news into one column and include every important fact is a rare bird."

An answer to this question may be contained in the decision of judges in the Better Newspaper Contest sponsored by the Alabama Press Association but for which all judges were out-of-state newspaper men, announced last July.

The Elba Clipper won awards for both news and editorials which commented upon "the range of subjects" in the editorials and that The Clipper's news columns "proved that all the best news writers are not on daily newspapers."

The Enterprise Ledger received an award for community service for its efforts for better voting arrangements in Coffee county.

After the awards were announced, The Elba Clipper published an account of the awards it received and the award received by The Enterprise Ledger.

The Enterprise Ledger published a much longer account of the award it received but made no mention of the awards received by The Elba Clipper.

The Thrifty HOUSEWIFE KNOWS

SHE PROFITS FROM ADVERTISING!

She Has Found From Experience that she fares Better When She Buys
From Those Stores Which Advertise Regularly in Newspapers!

The Wise MERCHANT KNOWS

HE PROFITS FROM ADVERTISING!

No business has to advertise. An experienced ad man is the first to disagree with the oft-repeated statement that 'You have to advertise.' Because you don't. But the most successful merchants are those who advertise. Because they want to let their customers know about their latest values and they have no fear to let their competitors know the same as their customers.

There are definite rules how to use it and the first rule is to budget the advertising the same as to budget the rent, payroll, gas, lights and water. Regular advertising is the key-note. No longer is advertising for clearance sales only. Customers want to know about regular price line merchandise too.

And there must be some reason why there is more advertising done in newspapers than in any other media. In fact, there is as much advertising done in newspapers as in the next highest three media combined.

All advertising is good, some better than others!

COFFEE COUNTY

-SOIL NEWS-

By T. C. Self and Billy Taylor

More than 2,000 acres of pasture was planted by cooperators of the Coffee County Soil Conservation District during the past fiscal year. Planting recommended grasses and legumes on pasture land results in greatly improved grazing with a decrease in soil losses.

Bahia grass remains a favorite with a majority of pasture land still being planted to this grass. Pennacola has generally produced yields comparable to those of coastal bermuda at locations on Southern and Central Alabama. Under drought conditions in Alabama, tests, coastal bermuda produced some what better. On the other side,

Bahia grasses are primarily pasture type plants and not as well suited to hay production as coastal. Bahia hay is often low in quality because it is cut at a late stage of maturity and is exposed to rain and sun after mowing.

Regardless of the pasture grass used the addition of a legume such as Crimson and ball clover with the grass produces extra grazing in the spring and adds an equivalent of 30 pounds of nitrogen per acre to the soil. This is roughly the same as a sack of thirty percent ammonia nitrate.

With all our progress to date, there still remains many acres of land to be improved. One might ask himself the question, Is each acre producing as it should and is it getting the treatment it needs?

Well, it wasn't exactly six feet because it had lost some of its rattlers. It was exactly five feet and 11 inches long from tip to tip, but it had only seven rattlers so some of them had been lost.

Mr. Larkins was standing in the cattle gap when he saw it in the pasture crawling towards the house, and he hurried away to get a weapon to kill it.

YOU NEVER SAW THIS NEWSPAPER

Thrown into the gutter or a waste basket before it was read, did you? But waste baskets and gutters are constantly being filled with unopened, expensive direct advertising, sales ammunition shot into the air.

A newspaper always commands an audience with prospective customers. It is never thrown aside without first being read from "kiver to kiver". Then it is borrowed by the neighbors.

That's why intelligent, attractive newspaper advertising is accepted as the most effective form of advertising your business.

An advertisement in this paper will reach over 75 per cent of the buyers in the local trade territory. We do the mailing and pay the postage.

Mass production has taught us a new dimension in cooperation. Now three men operate the same machine around the clock. And as this whistle blows at the change of the shift one hand surrenders the lever to another—while the wheels spin endlessly.

The same ready cooperation is becoming characteristic of the work of our churches. A Church School teacher moves to another city. There is another earnest Christian to take over her class. The term of an officer expires. There are equally qualified men ready to serve if elected.

Make willingness one of your virtues as you go to Church each Sunday. Volunteer for one of the humble yet all-important tasks that keep the wheels of spiritual progress forever spinning.
